

Character Bios

Raggs® - "Pawsuup! Let's play!"

Raggs is the puppy of the pack and the leader of the band. He's a guitar twanging, lead singing, bundle of canine energy who really loves to rock 'n' roll.

He's curious, enthusiastic, eternally optimistic, always ready to throw himself 100% into a new game, challenge or adventure. Like all puppies, Raggs loves to play. He's not afraid of helping out around the clubhouse too, but he can be easily distracted from his work if there is a game or more interesting activity available.

Raggs is a talented tail chaser, a passionate flea scratcher and a compulsive sniffer. Any hint of a new scent will have his nose working overtime trying to track down that smell.

Trilby® - "Shake those tails, let's get moving!"

Trilby is the super sporty fashionista of the band. She loves her music, fashion and sport all in equal measures. Trilby is smart, confident, stylish and has a matching accessory for every occasion. There's nothing Trilby won't attempt and no challenge she won't face head on. She proves you can be girly and fashion conscious as well as a canine sporting dynamo at the same time.

Trilby is a happy ambassador for life and it rubs off on her friends. She is also a good friend to everyone in the band. On stage Trilby uses her bass to lay down a funky beat and is always ready to show off her latest athletic dance move.

Pido® - "Stand back, brain attack!"

Pido is a laid back surfer dude who is totally happy to take life as it comes, in contrast to his friend Razzles' order and organization. His favorite pastimes are surfing and cooking. He likes nothing better than to chill out at the beach, then come home and create some out of this world snack. He loves food as long as it's healthy and can whip up one of his Pido pizza specials in no time.

Pido can seem to be a bit vague and forgetful sometimes, and doesn't always immediately grasp the finer points of any intellectual discussion. But when his brain does kick into gear – stand back, brain attack! – the lateral ideas start flowing thick and fast.

Pido loves nature and the great outdoors. He's gentle, generous and will do anything for a friend. He is passionate about his seashell collection and loves playing drums in the band.

Character Bios – page 2

B. Max® – “i can feel an invention coming on.”

B. Max might be in a wheelchair but he is definitely an alpha dog. There’s no problem too big for B. Max to overcome, no puzzle too tricky to solve and nothing broken that can’t be fixed, rebuilt or repaired.

B. Max is a passionate inventor and problem solver and loves creating wild looking inventions in his Inventing Room. Though we never see inside his workshop, the flashing lights above the door always herald him emerging with some new gadget or creation. His inventions aren’t always high tech but they all have very distinctive names such as the Oppos-ator 9000 tells you the opposite of something.

B. Max’s inventions are always fun, but they don’t always work in exactly the way B. Max imagined. It’s worth noting that B. Max’s inventions never actually solve whatever dilemma, problem or question is facing the dogs. The dogs always manage to do that themselves through a process of exploration, investigation and dogged puppy determination.

Razzles® – “i know! Club Meeting!”

Razzles is the go-to-girl, the most logical, ordered and organized of the dogs. Her lists of things to do around the clubhouse still leave plenty of time for her love of music and dancing, too.

Razzles has some strong opinions about how things ought to be done, but when the music plays, Razzles cuts loose. She really dazzles with the maracas, the tambourine or even helping Pido on the drums! Plus, she sings, dances and is cheerleader for the band. While it’s true that Razzles can be a bit bossy at times, she is always thoughtful and caring and brings a useful sense of order and pragmatism to most problems.

Dumpster™ – “Love me, love my stinky fish!”

When Pido found Dumpster outside the stage door of a concert, he never realized he was adding such an opinionated but lovable member to the Raggs family. A high maintenance addition, Dumpster requires plenty of stinky fish, fresh cream and naptime. Like all cats, Dumpster believes the world revolves around him. After all, everyone knows that dogs are way down the rungs on the evolutionary ladder.

But in spite of his droll asides and feigned air of casual superiority, Dumpster actually likes to socialize and especially loves talking to kids! Even though he’d never, ever admit it – Dumpster quite likes his canine housemates too. If only they’d just grow up!

Dumpster speaks directly to the audience and also has his own segment called “Interviews with Dumpster,” where he talks with real kids.

